Hague, July 25, N. S.

AS the Placart to prohibit the Exportation of all Warlike and Naval Stores, has not been deem'd ſufficient, the States General have publiſhed another within theſe few Days; by which they extend the former Placart, and prohibit the Selling of all Ships and Veſſels to Strangers, on Pain of Forfeiture of the ſame, and a Fine to be paid both by the Buyer and Seller, of twice the Value of the Veſſel ſo confiſcated; but in Caſe the ſaid Ship or Veſſel cannot be ſeized, the Penalty is to be extended to three Times the Value.

Hague, July 28, N. S. The Placart that was publiſhed ſome Time ago by the States of Holland, to enjoyn all their Subjects to pay the ordinary Taxes as uſual, to the Receivers and Collectors of this Province, has not had hitherto the deſir'd Effect: The Boors in the Neighbourhood of Dort, Gouda, Schoonhoven, &c. have aſſembled in great Bodies, with Drums and Colours, and have committed great Diſorders, eſpecially near Dort, where they have plunder'd ſeveral Houſes, and even murdered one of the Collectors. A Detachment of the Garriſon of this Place, was ſent there three Days ago, with the Droſſart of the Court of Juſtice, and a great Number of his Attendants, to put a Stop to their Inſolence; and we are told ſince that the Rioters are quite diſperſed. By the laſt Accounts from Bergen-op-Zoom of Yeſterday, we hear that on the 24th the French had made an unſucceſsful Attempt upon Steenbergen, where they were repulſed with ſome Loſs. On the 26th all their Grenadiers were order'd to give an Aſſault to the Kyck en de Pot, but upon Intelligence that proper Diſpoſitions were made to receive them, they have defer'd it to another Opportunity. In the mean Time they ſeem determined to make an Attempt upon the Lines, and they are now employed in raiſing Batteries, and have opened their Trenches, in order to form a regular Attack of the two Forts of Rovers and of Pilſen, in the Front of the Lines. The ſame Letters add, that M. de Lowendahl's Army is now increaſed to 35000 Men. And all agree that the Batteries of the Town are very well ſerved, and do prodigious Execution amongſt the Enemies, who had not gain'd an Inch of Ground. The Detachment from his Royal Highneſs's Army, under the Command of Prince Waldeck, got ſafe to Duynendaal, within two Leagues of Boiſleduc, the 25th Inſtant; and the next Day was at Wencht, where they were to be joyn'd by the 3000 Heſſians. It is ſaid that the Troops from Wurtzburgh landed at Arnheim three Days ago.

Hague, July 31, N. S. By Advices from Bergen-op-Zoom dated Yeſterday, every Thing went on extremely well, and the Enemy had not made any great Progreſs againſt the two Forts at the Head of the Lines. It is added, that the Enemy's Miners were got above half Way of the Glacis towards a Work called Poligone de Corne, and that every Thing was preparing for a conſiderable Sally. On the other Hand, the Troops under Prince Waldeck, which marched Yeſterday from Boiſleduc, with the Heſſians and Wurtzburgers, are to endeavour to penetrate into the Lines of Bergen-op-Zoom.

Hague, Auguſt 1, N. S. Prince Waldeck has left his Command to Lieutenant General Swartzemburg, though he has not hitherto applied for his Diſmiſſion. The Troops under the Command of M. de Swartzemburg are to be at Breda this Day. By the Letters received this Morning from Bergen-op-Zoom, we hear, that a Sally had been made from the Lines upon the Body of French that form the Attack againſt Rover's Fort, in which ſome Part of their Trenches had been deſtroyed. All the Letters received this Day from Madrid agree, that the Queen Dowager of Spain was ordered to remove directly to one of the four Towns left to her Choice for her Reſidence; and that the Cardinal Infant had likewiſe received Orders to repair to his Archbiſhoprick of Toledo.

Flushing, July 31, N. S. Letters from the Camp of Bergen-op-Zoom, dated laſt Night at Ten o'Clock, ſay, that the French were attacking the South-ſide of the Town by Sap, and had carried their Trenches almoſt to the Paliſadoes of the Out-works of Fort Rover; that it was expected every Night they would attack the Cover'd Way of the Town and of Fort Rover; and that Prince Waldeck's Corps was near Breda the 29th in the Morning. It is hoped this Reinforcement will enable them to make a good Defence of the Lines. We hear that Prince Waldeck himſelf was gone to the Hague in order to reſign his Command.

Rotterdam, Auguſt 1, N. S. There is nothing very material from Bergen-op-Zoom; the French fail'd in their Attack upon Fort Rover the Night before laſt. The Succours were expected this Night at Bredau, and it is thought that two Marches more will bring them into the Lines. We have Advice from the Hague, that Prince Waldeck has reſigned his Command, and that Count la Lippe has alſo deſired Leave to retire.
